This site does not support vector graphics!Aperitivo One of the best ways to enjoy the wonderful Calabrian Cuisine around the world and in our home too is Aperitivo. When you sit at a restaurant, cafes and tavernas during the day, often times the sommelier or wine server brings you a complimentary aperitivo glass and you receive a selection of drinks with an assortment of appetizers. While the preparation can vary a little bit from restaurant to restaurant, it is usually around a selection of Mediterranean and Italian cheeses, olives, cured meats and pickled veggies. Chances are they will also bring you a little bowl of something homemade with little to no rules what to put in it. As the evening progresses people often go to the buffet table and start to enjoy their favorite crostini, freshly baked pizza and wonderful thin crust pizzas. In Italy we are not bound by any specific rules to what we eat, so you will find that people are enjoying little snacks throughout the day, from breakfast to lunch and dinner. This is one of my favorite times of the day and this brings me to one of my favorite places to sit and enjoy Aperitivo. I personally love sitting outside in the courtyard of the wonderful Hotel Villa Fontanil in Cosenza. The food is delicious, service is superb, and the view is even better! They can also arrange a day of dining and wining and dining, but we've had it both ways in the past and cannot say enough about it! There are many other great places to sit and enjoy Aperitivo, but for me, it is one of the most relaxing times of the day. I may not be in Italy as often as I'd like, but I still carry the tradition and the love of eating this way with me wherever I go!
